Founder-Director's Message

We began this year cautiously optimistic that we would be able to get back to pre-pandemic levels of enrollments and operations. It was a good year, all things considered. Our student strength increased robustly, we had almost no attrition, and we were able to totally focus on our promise of delivering consistently superior services to all our beneficiaries.

The organization turned 21 this year. I believe that we are well-recognized in the space of intellectual disabilities and are in a good position to expand our reach even further. We have signed MoUs with partners in Thiruvananthapuram and Tirunagari. We are also hoping to expand our footprint in Maharashtra. Our network of well-wishers and donor-partners, and the immense goodwill generated from these, continues to grow and thrive.

The workshops and seminars we have offered through our partner organization, InkleWeave Educational Training Services, have found an appreciative and growing audience. Product partnerships with Special Needs Empowerment Hub (SNEH) have generated a greater demand for the niche products that we make. V-Excel has been more visible in the public eye.

We are ready to expand the scope of our work building on our strengths. We anticipate enhanced learning opportunities for all our special students and enriched engagement with the community. This is an exciting time for V-Excel as we refine our portfolio of services and build relationships to sustain our work.

This Annual Report is an encapsulation of the highlights and milestones of the year. We hope you are as inspired by them as we are. Thank you for your continued support, faith, trust and generosity.

With immense gratitude,
Dr. Vasudha Prakash

Sujai Balasubramanian is a 37-year-old individual with multiple disabilities. He has partial Cerebral Palsy and has challenges using his left limbs. He also has hearing and speech impairments along with mild cognitive challenges. Sujai joined YES,V-Excel's vocational training center in Mylapore, in 2016 when he was 30. He was trained in baking, basic kitchen activities, weaving, packing and packaging, along with alternate communication and functional academics.

Sujai had difficulties communicating as he was not trained in sign language. His reading and writing skills were also below par. Nevertheless, he wanted to work, earn and support his family. He hails from an ordinary middle-class background with a retired father.

His elder brother, being the only bread winner of the family, did as much as possible. Sujai is a very sensible and understanding individual. He wanted to get into a mainstream job, earn and contribute. This need grew over the years so much so that he almost got into depression and frustration. It was not easy to find a workplace where the place, nature of work, commute, work time and co-workers were all favorable to him.

Initial transitions to a workplace were not easy on Sujai. He could not sustain himself in one place for more than 2 days. His anxiety increased and his self-confidence hit rock bottom.

After a few trials and errors, many discussions with his parents, intense counselling for Sujai and with Herculean effort, a "perfect-fit" opportunity was found. Sujai has been interning at Novotel, Chamiers Road for the past 7 months and earns a monthly stipend of ₹7,000. He is very happy there and the team around him has rallied to provide him with needed accommodations to make his workplace conducive. His confidence has grown exponentially and his hard work and commitment have been noted and recognized. His parents feel reassured now and are appreciative of how his life has turned over these past months.

Field Trips

Field trips are rich with life's lessons: they provide valuable insights and give children a small taste of structured independence. These experiences are valuable for students and may be even more valuable for special needs students. Many students who have special needs have IEP goals that involve gaining social skills. Taking students on a field trip is an excellent opportunity to practice social skills outside of the students' everyday environment.

Field Trips

Field trips, including those that are virtual, enable teachers to create as many authentic, experiential experiences as possible. These spatial memories are embedded in the brain and need no rehearsal.

Inside the fort is a small temple dedicated to the goddess Shivai Devi, after whom Shivaji was named. In the afternoon, the staff visited the picturesque Malshej Ghat. AS INDIVIDUALS

Join us to be part of a movement for change. Be an advocate for the rights of individuals with special needs.

There are a number of ways you can show your support:

VOLUNTEERS Our volunteers work 'behind the scenes', supporting the work of our members and helping with our administration. You don't have to be a member to volunteer with us.

DONATE Donations are vital to our work. Your gift to us is an investment in hope. Each year we help hundreds of families from all over India cope with the effects of Autism, Autism Spectrum Disorders, Pervasive Development Disorder (PDD), and other developmental challenges. Thanks to the generosity of donors, so many children will regain limitless possibilities, so many families will regain hope, and so many who previously felt hopeless will learn to open doors they never knew existed.

FUNDRAISE FOR US Having a disability or raising a child with a disability can be challenging. At times it can be stressful, especially because special needs often translate to additional expenses that are foreign to most people. But people in your network may step forward to help, but may not know what you need, and they can't get involved if they aren't asked. Beyond the simple ask, you want to make it easy, and there is nothing easier than contributing online.
